01 / KABI JHULA

Poet’s Classic

Design 01 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

A soft rectangular body with a restrained horizontal border and matching sling. The original quiet favourite. Natural tussar is the proposed cloth.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Khadi Classic

Design 02 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

An understated everyday combination: pale cloth, golden facing and a charcoal-led lower border. Proposed cloth direction: Khadi with tussar accents.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Heritage Drape

Design 03 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

The soft opening dips at the centre. Patterned side bands continue into the sling and frame the plain cloth. Proposed cloth direction: Tussar with patterned side bands.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Earth Drape

Design 04 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

A lower tussar panel, a subtle line of stitching and brick-red edging give this draped form its identity. Proposed cloth direction: Ivory khadi and golden tussar.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Quiet Ink

Design 05 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

An asymmetric woven accent brings a small flash of colour to the flowing, dark-edged silhouette. Proposed cloth direction: Pale tussar and charcoal khadi.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Madder Poet

Design 06 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

A warm red body, golden facing and sling, and a narrow vertical accent. Madder describes the colour direction; the dye is not yet specified. Proposed cloth direction: Red khadi with tussar accents.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Coastal Appliqué

Design 07 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

A Puri-district impression drawing on Pipili’s sewn-cloth tradition. The sea-coloured line is an original coastal accent; execution needs a local artisan sample. Proposed cloth direction: Tussar with proposed appliqué.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Silver Lines

Design 08 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

Fine stitched linework interprets Katak’s Tarakasi vocabulary. It is a textile proposal, not silver filigree or a claim of metal content. Proposed cloth direction: Charcoal khadi, tussar and embroidery.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Bandha

Design 09 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

A first Sambalpur–Bargarh-focused study. A real yarn-dyed handloom panel and its weaver must be selected before making provenance claims. Proposed cloth direction: Ivory khadi with proposed Bandha cloth.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Painted Garden

Design 10 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

An original floral-border idea inspired by Raghurajpur’s Pattachitra tradition. Paint flexibility, colourfastness and the artisan’s design need sampling. Proposed cloth direction: Red khadi, tussar and a painted-panel concept.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Ivory Filigree

Design 11 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

A softer, pale counterpart to Silver Lines. Filigree-inspired threadwork sits across the lower edge; no actual silverwork is implied. Proposed cloth direction: Ivory khadi with proposed embroidery.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Pasapali Edge

Design 12 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

A Sambalpur–Bargarh-focused impression with patterned side bands. Western Odisha has many traditions; this is one starting point, not a claim to represent them all. Proposed cloth direction: Khadi with proposed Bandha borders.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Khadi × Odisha Weave

Design 13 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

Ivory cloth and a red patterned flap, with the same border carried along the sling and notebook.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Library Jhula

Design 14 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

A roomy ivory satchel with two wooden buttons, a bordered flap and an inner divider for books and notes.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Indigo Poet

Design 15 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

Deep indigo cloth with a red patterned edge. A quiet contrast, repeated across the matching set.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Everyday Khadi

Design 16 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

An upright ivory bag with a simple button closure, a patterned sling and a red band near the hem.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Bordered Flap & Notebook

Design 17 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

A softly rounded ivory flap, a wooden button and a red border shared with the cloth notebook.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Minimal Line & Notebook

Design 18 of 20 | Jhula and matching Poetry Kit study

Fine vertical lines, dark dots and one red accent on ivory cloth. The notebook echoes the bag’s spare pattern.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Ivory Flap - Pattachitra

Design 19 of 20 | Jhula-only study

Ivory cloth, a softly rounded flap and a wooden button. Terracotta flowers and curling vines trace the flap edge and shoulder strap. This border study shows the bag only; no matching kit has been developed.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

01 / KABI JHULA

Poet’s Classic - Pattachitra

Design 20 of 20 | Jhula-only study

The familiar golden Poet’s Classic, with its open top and wooden-button closure. A flowering border runs near the hem and continues along the sling. This border study shows the bag only; no matching kit has been developed.

Design study. Proposed materials and construction await physical sampling; price and availability are unconfirmed.

02 / ODISHA MERCHANDISE

CURTAINS / THE DESIGN STORY

River Rhythm

A flowing floral rhythm

River Rhythm brings the movement of a flowering riverbank into a room. Large organic medallions alternate with conch-inspired curls and slender creepers, giving the pair an unfolding, asymmetrical rhythm. This is the collection's design story, rather than a claim that every motif has one fixed traditional meaning.

COLOUR PALETTE

Ivory | Lac red | Ink black | Mustard

MOTIFS & BORDERS

Organic floral medallions lead the ivory field; small sprigs and curls create movement between them.

Lac-red floral side lanes sit beside black inner lanes, with mustard accents.

A layered floral band, fine rails and a dark finishing band anchor the lower edge.

THE TEXTILE PROCESS

Bandha is yarn-resist ikat: yarn is tied and dyed before weaving. The soft edges arise from yarn alignment. The proposed design must be developed with an ikat weaver; the digital outline is a composition guide.

WHY THE THREE PILLOWS WORK TOGETHER

Ikat Medallion: A large medallion on a dark field makes the statement pillow; lac-red piping ties it back to the borders.

Bandha Stripe: Three bands of small floral units cross a quiet lac-red field for a calmer companion.

Flower Border Lumbar: Alternating conch-inspired curls and flowering sprigs sit between two ornamental rails on the lumbar.

CURTAINS / THE DESIGN STORY

Niyamgiri Lines

Open cloth, measured rhythm

PROVISIONAL - DONGRIA MOTIFS
Pending Dongria Kondh collaboration and approval

Niyamgiri Lines is a provisional study in open natural cotton, geometric bands and diagonal rhythms. Its working title evokes the Niyamgiri landscape; the homeware interpretation remains subject to Dongria Kondh collaboration. No named traditional motif, sacred meaning or cultural permission is asserted.

COLOUR PALETTE

Natural cotton

Red

Forest green

Yellow

Earth brown

MOTIFS & BORDERS

Proposed nested-triangle studies and diagonal guards form the upper band.

The lower band echoes that rhythm; three diagonal rows add a light transition above it.

The main cotton field remains open. Every geometric arrangement shown is provisional.

THE TEXTILE PROCESS

The proposed approach is Kapdaganda-inspired counted-thread embroidery on cloth, distinct from ikat or supplementary weaving. Motif forms, colour use, placement and suitability for homeware require community review before sampling.

Central Geometry: A central geometric band on natural cotton introduces the proposed rhythm.

Forest Accent: Forest-green cloth with a narrow vertical embroidered insert provides contrast.

Diagonal Lines: Diagonal stitch runs gather at one short end of the natural-cotton lumbar, leaving the rest quiet.

CURTAINS / THE DESIGN STORY

Regal Borders

An ornamental frame for quiet indigo

Regal Borders treats the curtain as an indigo field held within richly patterned edges. Small floral butas provide a measured rhythm, while the broad lower band adds visual weight. The selected botanical tree pillow gives the coordinated set its principal focal point.

COLOUR PALETTE

Midnight indigo | Brick red | Antique gold | Ivory

MOTIFS & BORDERS

Continuous leaf-and-flower vines sit inside diamond frameworks along the sides.

Small floral butas are spaced across the midnight-indigo field.

The lower floral lattice is framed by guard bands and fine rails, ending in a plain indigo strip.

THE TEXTILE PROCESS

The Bomkai direction proposes supplementary weaving: extra-warp side borders and supplementary-weft decoration in the body and lower band. Antique gold describes a matte yarn colour; it is not a claim of metallic yarn.

WHY THE THREE PILLOWS WORK TOGETHER

Botanical Tree: The main pillow carries the selected gold botanical tree, with paired branches, flower tips and diamond leaves.

Buta Field: A brick-red pillow with sparse floral butas repeats the curtain’s small-scale rhythm.

Pallav Lumbar: An asymmetric floral-vine band and fine indigo lines accent the warm-ivory lumbar.

CURTAINS / THE DESIGN STORY

Aal & Earth

Let colour and cloth lead

Aal & Earth keeps most of the curtain field quiet so earth-red colour, woven texture and small contrasts can carry the composition. Its restrained stepped forms and fine lines offer a grounded counterpoint to the more ornamental collections.

COLOUR PALETTE

Aal red | Earth maroon | Natural cotton | Brown-black

MOTIFS & BORDERS

A few small triangular forms punctuate the open earth-red field.

Narrow side strips and fine contrasting lines frame the pair.

A lower row of stepped triangles and fine rails recalls the proposed Phoda Kumbha-inspired direction, pending Kotpad weaver review.

THE TEXTILE PROCESS

The Kotpad direction proposes Aal-dyed weaving. Dye provenance and woven execution must be developed with Kotpad practitioners. Natural shade variation is part of the intended character, subject to approval of the physical cloth.

WHY THE THREE PILLOWS WORK TOGETHER

Earth Geometry: A modest cluster of three triangular units and two fine lines sits on an earth-red square.

Natural Cotton: Natural cotton dominates the second square, with one narrow red border and fine stripes.

Aal Stripe: Irregular ivory stripes and a small triangular edge band distinguish the dark lumbar.

01 Charcoal ground

A dark field makes fine lines legible.

02 Pale linework

Floral outlines supply the main ornament.

03 Warm trim

Tussar-coloured accents balance the dark body.

The proposed Poetry Kit carries this design into a cloth notebook, bookmark and pen sleeve, alongside a pen and an Odia poetry book. Contents and materials await confirmation.

Concept artwork, not a manufactured sample. Price and availability are unconfirmed. Maker documentation is supplied separately.

DESIGN GUIDE / THEME

Bandha

Pattern held by a pale field

An ivory ground gives the proposed Bandha panel prominence. Red, dark and light shapes establish the graphic contrast of this regional study.

THE COLOUR STORY

Ivory

Red

Charcoal

Indicative digital colours; cloth, yarn and printed colours await sampling.

DESIGN DIRECTION

A first Sambalpur–Bargarh-focused study. A real yarn-dyed handloom panel and its weaver must be selected before making provenance claims. Proposed cloth direction: Ivory khadi with proposed Bandha cloth.

Concept artwork, not a manufactured sample. Price and availability are unconfirmed. Maker documentation is supplied separately.

DESIGN GUIDE / INFOGRAPHIC

Bandha

Pattern held by a pale field

01 Ivory body

Plain cloth frames the pattern.

02 Patterned panel

Red and dark shapes provide the focal accent.

03 Coordinated edges

Border colours connect the bag and kit.

The proposed Poetry Kit carries this design into a cloth notebook, bookmark and pen sleeve, alongside a pen and an Odia poetry book. Contents and materials await confirmation.

Concept artwork, not a manufactured sample. Price and availability are unconfirmed. Maker documentation is supplied separately.

DESIGN GUIDE / THEME

Painted Garden

A garden along the border

Floral ornament runs against a warm red body. The painting direction is an original border study to develop with an artisan, with flexibility and colourfastness still to be tested.

THE COLOUR STORY

Red

Gold

Ivory

Indicative digital colours; cloth, yarn and printed colours await sampling.

DESIGN DIRECTION

An original floral-border idea inspired by Raghurajpur’s Pattachitra tradition. Paint flexibility, colourfastness and the artisan’s design need sampling. Proposed cloth direction: Red khadi, tussar and a painted-panel concept.

Concept artwork, not a manufactured sample. Price and availability are unconfirmed. Maker documentation is supplied separately.

DESIGN GUIDE / INFOGRAPHIC

Painted Garden

A garden along the border

01 Red field

Warm cloth carries the body.

02 Floral border

Flowers and vines concentrate along the edge.

03 Golden accents

Light details relieve the dense colour.

DESIGN GUIDE / THEME

Ivory Filigree

Fine lines on ivory

A pale counterpart to Silver Lines, this design keeps the lower ornament delicate. Threadwork is proposed; the filigree connection describes visual inspiration.

THE COLOUR STORY

Ivory

Stone

Gold

Indicative digital colours; cloth, yarn and printed colours await sampling.

DESIGN DIRECTION

A softer, pale counterpart to Silver Lines. Filigree-inspired threadwork sits across the lower edge; no actual silverwork is implied. Proposed cloth direction: Ivory khadi with proposed embroidery.

Concept artwork, not a manufactured sample. Price and availability are unconfirmed. Maker documentation is supplied separately.

DESIGN GUIDE / INFOGRAPHIC

DESIGN GUIDE / THEME

Pasapali Edge

A patterned frame

Patterned side bands surround a quieter central field. The design explores one western Odisha direction without claiming to represent every regional tradition.

THE COLOUR STORY

Ivory

Red

Charcoal

Indicative digital colours; cloth, yarn and printed colours await sampling.

DESIGN DIRECTION

A Sambalpur–Bargarh-focused impression with patterned side bands. Western Odisha has many traditions; this is one starting point, not a claim to represent them all. Proposed cloth direction: Khadi with proposed Bandha borders.

Concept artwork, not a manufactured sample. Price and availability are unconfirmed. Maker documentation is supplied separately.

DESIGN GUIDE / INFOGRAPHIC

Pasapali Edge

Theme & colour story

PROVISIONAL - DONGRIA MOTIFS AND CAPTION

Patterns of the hills. Stories of the Dongria.

The design follows the visual rhythm of the textile photographs shared during development: rows of small triangles, larger patterned triangles, circular accents and closely spaced bands. It brings that rhythm into an everyday printed T-shirt.

INDICATIVE PALETTE

Deep red	Golden yellow	Forest green	Cream	Black	White

This is a printed design inspired by Kapdaganda embroidery, not a hand-embroidered garment. Fabric composition, fit, size chart, wash care and final print quality will be confirmed through sampling.

Pending Dongria Kondh collaboration and approval of motifs, caption and product use. This is a printed concept, not hand embroidery; community endorsement is not claimed.

Maker blueprints remain separate. Price, supply and physical sample approval are unconfirmed.

Dongria Hills / Patterns of the Hills T-shirt

Design infographic

PROVISIONAL - DONGRIA MOTIFS AND CAPTION

Patterns of the hills. Stories of the Dongria.

01 Front composition

A compact chest panel leaves breathing room around the motif. The caption sits beneath it.

02 Pattern rhythm

Fine diagonal marks suggest the stitch texture in the reference cloth. Small circles interrupt the repeated triangles.

03 Two colourways

The same motif appears on black and white. Cream lettering suits the black shirt; burgundy lettering suits the white shirt.

Both colourways carry the same caption: “Patterns of the hills. Stories of the Dongria.” Colour names describe this design palette; no fixed cultural meanings are assigned to them.

Pending Dongria Kondh collaboration and approval of motifs, caption and product use. This is a printed concept, not hand embroidery; community endorsement is not claimed.

Maker blueprints remain separate. Price, supply and physical sample approval are unconfirmed.

DONGRIA HILLS TOTE / THEME & COLOUR

Patterns to carry.

Natural-handle gift-bag concept / Front and back

PROVISIONAL - DONGRIA MOTIFS AND LETTERING

Developed as a Diwali gift bag, this design balances a dense patterned front with open cloth on the back. Red, yellow and green triangles, diamonds and circular accents connect the two sides.

Red	Golden yellow	Forest green	Natural cloth	Ink	Sea blue

The Project Odisha gift design pairs Odia lettering and the supplied water label with the caption: Patterns of the hills. Stories of the Dongria.

Natural-coloured cloth is shown in both concepts. Fibre content, bag dimensions, handle strength, closure, printing and wash care await a physical sample. Printed stitch effects do not indicate hand embroidery.

Printed interpretation, not hand embroidery. Community endorsement is not claimed. Final lettering requires fluent-speaker review.

DONGRIA HILLS TOTE / DESIGN DETAILS

Red handles. Open space.

Zipped gift-bag concept / Front and back

PROVISIONAL - DONGRIA MOTIFS AND LETTERING

01 Patterned front

Stacked bands of triangles, diamonds and small circles form a tall central panel.

02 Open back

Small ornaments flank the Odia lettering. The water label, caption and Project Odisha logo sit above a broad lower border.

03 Two handle options

Natural handles give a quieter outline. Red handles and a visible zip echo the supplier bag used for the later visualization.

GIFT BRANDING & LETTERING

The book-and-boat logo identifies Project Odisha. The water wording and Odia letterforms are retained from the design; final language proof is pending.

Dimensions, fabric, closure, handle strength and print quality await sampling. No price or availability is confirmed.
